RAKI

Anise flavored aperitif produce by distilling suma grapes in traditional copper alembics. In Turkey, Raki is the unofficial 'national drink', traditionally drunk mixed with water; the dilution causes this alcoholic drink to turn a milky-white color, and possibly because of its color, is popularly called aslan sütü, literally meaning "lion's milk"

Wines of Turkey at Efendy

The first evidence of viticulture and wine making in Anatolia (central Turkey) dates back 7,000 years. Today, Turkey is home to between 600–1200 indigenous grape varieties and with over 1,500,000 acres planted under vine, it is the world's sixth largest producer of grapes.

Wine Regions

Thrace and Marmara: they are located south of Bulgaria and southeast of Greece, bordering the Black Sea, Marmara Sea and the Aegean Sea. They enjoy a typical Mediterranean climate. The Thrace and Marmara wine regions produce about 13.6% of the wine in Turkey

Aegean region: it is located in the western part of Turkey facing the Aegean Sea and Greek Islands. The climate is Mediterranean near the coast and continental on the Anatolian Plateau. The Aegean wine region produces about 52.7% of the wine in Turkey.

Mediterranean region: it is located in the south part of Turkey facing the Mediterranean Sea. The Mediterranean wine region produces only 0.2% of the wine in Turkey

Anatolia region: In Anatolia, the climate is continental with hot and arid summers and cold winters. Sub-regions are located in the South-East near Iraq and Syria, in the East, close to the Black Sea, in the North, near Ankara, and in Cappadocia, in the center of the country. Anatolia produces about 33.5% of the wine in Turkey.
